CURRENT TRENDS IN SOFTWARE ENGINEERING RESEARCH

In honour of
Professor Emeritus Axel van Lamsweerde

Friday October 4, 2013
Université catholique de Louvain

After more than forty years of research and teaching, our colleague Axel van Lamsweerde is turning emeritus this Fall. On the occasion, the Computing Science and Engineering pole (INGI) of the ICTEAM Institute at UCL is organizing a full-day session of invited lectures by worldwide distinguished experts on current trends in software engineering research:

John Mylopoulos (Prof., University of Toronto & University of Trento)
Emmanuel Letier (Prof., University College London)
Joanne Atlee (Prof., University of Waterloo)
Bashar Nuseibeh (Prof., Open University)
Carlo Ghezzi (Prof., Politecnico di Milano)
Jeff Magee (Dean, School of Engineering, Imperial College London)
Leon J. Osterweil (Prof., University of Massachusetts at Amherst)
Lori Clarke (Prof., University of Massachusetts at Amherst)
Anthony Finkelstein (Dean, School of Engineering, University College London)

For details regarding schedule, location and registration see:

http://icampus.grascomp.be/courses/COMP055