

Do you have high expectations? Make the sky your limit

Join us in Luxembourg as a:

Junior Actuary (m/f)

Are you looking for an exciting challenge whilst discovering the advisory role of an actuary? Do you want to break into a stimulating and international work environment? Are you dynamic and self-motivated?

Then give your career the green light and join us!

Luxembourg - why?

At the heart of Europe, Luxembourg is a cosmopolitan financial center offering a thriving cultural life, many social and sporting activities and an advantageous taxation system which make it a unique and great place to live. Take a closer look on www.ont.lu.

Your role

- Actively contribute to client projects of a technical actuarial nature in life, non-life and pensions, for example: embedded value reviews, audit support, modeling, M&A and financial reporting.
- Participate in assignments related to IFRS 4, Solvency II and in the set up of pension funds

Your profile

- Master degree in Actuarial Science
- A relevant internship would be considered an asset
- Knowledge of least two of the following actuarial techniques: asset liability modeling, stochastic modeling, embedded value, USGAAP, IFRS, audit, realistic balance sheet, ICA, asset modeling, capital management, with-profits, protection, distribution, M&A / structuring

- Client focused and ability to quickly establish effective working relationships
- Fluency in French and English, knowledge of German would be considered an asset

Our focus is about you and your development. We offer a multidisciplinary environment full of challenges and development opportunities, a competitive package, numerous facilities and services (fitness center, in house restaurant, conciergerie, etc...) and possibilities for internal mobility or international assignments.

Do you have the ambition to join a thriving team within an international company which highly cares for the development and well being of its employees? Then apply.

Deloitte Luxembourg

Deloitte Luxembourg, with around 1.100 employees, is a member of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, one of the world's leading professional services organizations (over 165 000 people throughout the world). Our multidisciplinary teams offer real solutions to complex issues in the fields of Audit, Tax, Financial Advisory & Consulting.

Apply online on www.deloitte.lu ("Careers" section)