COMU1BA - Information

Learning outcomes

The bachelor's programme of Information and Communication offers a first approach to this subject in the context of a more general training in Human Sciences. In terms of skill acquisition, the programme has the aims of developing the students' capacity to elaborate interdisciplinary reflection, of helping them develop their skills of critical analysis, of initiating them in autonomous and personal study and of laying the foundation stones for future scientific research.

The first year of the bachelor's programme is dedicated to the acquisition of knowledge in the general disciplines of the ESPO Faculty. Different courses in the domain of Information and Communication Sciences will help to prepare the students for this discipline, both from a theoretical and an applied point of view, thanks to the work accomplished and to the integration of the topics in a disciplinary seminar. From the first year on, great importance is given to working autonomously. In the second year, the student will pursue his interdisciplinary education and go more deeply into the subject areas of Information and Communication Sciences. Finally, the third year is dedicated to research methods as well as to initiation into the main domains of Information and Communication.

The programme is thus designed for the student to progress gradually and become more and more personally involved in his own acquisition of knowledge and the development of his own critical analysis and autonomous reflection capacities from year to year. These university skills correspond to the stakes inherent in the Sciences of Information and Communication and involve capacities such as being able to analyse the media and various communication situations.

Teaching method

L'apprentissage est tant théorique qu'appliqué, grâce à la réalisation de nombreux travaux et à l'intégration des thématiques dans la résolution et l'analyse de questions de communication. Immerger les étudiants dans cette réalité constitue l'objectif des « activités relais », qui accompagneront les étudiants tout au long de leurs trois années de formation initiale.

En Bac 1, ces activités permettront essentiellement aux étudiants de se familiariser avec les théories et les auteurs, ainsi qu'avec les grands secteurs de l'univers de la communication.

En Bac 2, les activités entraîneront les étudiants à la découverte des différents mondes de la communication, et en particulier de celui des médias. Ceux-ci feront l'objet de rencontres, de visites et d'analyses spécifiques. Des voyages d'études seront organisés dans ce cadre. Les activités relais sensibiliseront aussi les étudiants aux grandes questions de l'actualité médiatique et fourniront des outils pour la comprendre. Enfin, les activités accompagneront les étudiants dans la maîtrise de démarches appliquées de recherches qualitatives.

En Bac 3, les étudiants seront amenés à personnaliser des pratiques d'expression et à découvrir de l'intérieur le domaine de la communication vers lequel ils se destineront en Master. La compréhension de l'actualité de la communication sera poursuivie. Par ailleurs, les activités relais encadreront aussi les étudiants dans des travaux appliqués d'enquêtes ou d'études quantitatives dans le domaine de la communication.

Evaluation

Written and oral exams are aimed at checking the level of acquisition and the extent of the mastery of the concepts, theories, basic data and know-how within the subject areas concerned.

Certain pedagogical activities (tasks and exercises) take the form of ongoing evaluation. Among other forms of ongoing assessment, the use of multimedia pedagogical tools makes e-learning partly possible, which includes auto-evaluation procedures on a regular basis.

Possible trainings at the end of the programme
