HIST2M1 - Introduction

Introduction

Introduction

The aim of this master, which can be completed in one year is to further methodological and critical learning relating to the research and application of information and specifically how that information can be applied to an historical period (Antiquity, the Middle Ages, modern times and the contemporary era) or to a field of history. The course does not include the methodological approaches to research and communication in history which are covered in the master 120. The final assignment allows the students to focus upon a given subject.

Your profile

Students:

- hold a bachelor's degree;
- have followed courses comprising sufficient credits in the following fields: courses on general or specialised history, covering a variety of periods, on an introduction to history and research techniques, on the application of theory, on ancient, medieval and/or modern languages (the 30 credits awarded for the minor in history can be used to meet these requirements).

Your future job

Our students mainly find employment in teaching, research, professions in communication and those linked to publishing.

Your programme

The core curriculum offers an introduction to research, as well as interactive lessons based upon files, covering the different historical periods in the field of "governance and societies".

A very special place is reserved for the seminar (10 credits) which requires significant library and archive research, as well as a documentary criticism assignment and preparation of an oral and written summary.

The various electives allow the students to further the knowledge they have acquired in their bachelors' programmes and to begin to adopt an interdisciplinary approach.

HIST2M1 - Teaching profile

Learning outcomes

This degree allows students who fulfil the prerequisite of already holding another master, to acquire certain historical research techniques and methods. They are employed in the final assignment (which cannot be reused in the event that students later move on to a master 120) consisting of focussing upon a question relating to a given subject, not necessarily requiring obligatory references to first-hand materials.

On successful completion of this programme, each student is able to :

1. deepening knowledge relating to certain fields and periods of history
2. partially applying certain research methods appropriate to historical study

Programme structure

The programme is made up of :

- core courses : 45 credits (including 15 credits for the end of study work);
- and optional courses (15 credits).

HIST2M1 - Information

Admission

General and specific admission requirements for this program must be satisfied at the time of enrolling at the university..

Specific Admission Requirements

2° Provide proof of a sufficient level in French (B1 of the European Framework of Reference )

3° Students must have undertaken training including the following 105 credits:

⇒ 30 credits in general or specialised history courses, covering several periods;

⇒ 30 credits in introduction to the historical discipline and research techniques;

⇒ 30 credits in implementing theory;

⇒ 15 course credits in ancient, Medieval and/or modern languages.

The 30 credits of the [Minor in History \[30.0\]](#) satisfy these requirements.

If the student does not have sufficient training in one or several of these subjects, prerequisites will be added to the masters programme (with a maximum of 15 credits).

If the total number of prerequisites exceeds 15 credits, access to the master is subject to the student passing the '[Preparatory year for Master in History \[60.0\]](#)', the programme of which is based on the student's file.

Course equivalents are submitted for approval to the chairman of jury, the secretary of the jury and the academic faculty secretary.

Teaching method

The core courses on the Master 60 give an introduction to research, as well as interactive classes, based on dossiers, covering the various historical periods in the field 'Gouvernance et sociétés'.

A special place is reserved for the seminar (10 credits) which calls for a lot of research in libraries and archive centres, as well as substantial work in documentary criticism and preparation of an oral and written summary.

A large selection of optional courses allows the student both to gain more depth in the knowledge acquired in the bachelor programme and begin a cross-disciplinary approach.

Evaluation

The evaluation methods comply with the regulations concerning studies and exams. More detailed explanation of the modalities specific to each learning unit are available on their description sheets under the heading "Learning outcomes evaluation method".

Written and oral exams aim to measure the level of acquisition and grasp of basic concepts, theories, basic data and know-how in the different fields in question.

The exercises and seminars are the subject of continuous assessment.

The end of study work is marked by the supervisor and two readers.

Courses are evaluated according to current university regulations (see General Examination Regulations). Students may find further information on specific evaluation methods in the course descriptions.

To obtain a student's average, the grades awarded for each course unit are weighted by their respective credits.

Mobility and/or Internationalisation outlook

No Erasmus exchange is foreseen in the master 60.

Possible trainings at the end of the programme

Accessible masters :

[Master \[120\] in History](#) Direct access to the second block of the master; training includes the Dissertation and the Dissertation seminar (30 credits), one focus and the possible further trainings (maximum 30 credits).
